Proclamation by Gov Brownlow.

Whereas, A number of highly respected and influential citizens of Eastern Tennessee have memorialized the Executive to issue this proclamation, calling upon returning Federal soldiers and citizens in this section of the State to cease, "under a sense of personal or political wrongs, to resort to the infliction of violence upon the persons of others who sympathized with the late rebellion, and also to cease threats against persons who have returned under parole to their old homes, agreeably to the terms accorded to the armies of Lee and Johnston, and, whereas, the memorialists represent that "in several instances attempts have been made to take the lives of such persons, or of men who are understood, while remaining at home, to have been unfriendly to the Union;" and further, they call for "all good citizens to refrain from acts of lawless and personal violence;" now, therefore, I, William G. Brownlow, Governor of Tennessee, do issue this, my proclamation, calling upon the civil magistracy and the Courts to repress all improper indulgence of private or political revenge; and I call upon all aggrieved citizens to apply for the redress of their wrongs and the punishment of any parties who have personally injured them, and are guilty of offenses against the State or nation, to the civil Courts, which are now open in most parts of the section where these outrages are being perpetrated. Should the guilty be shielded by the corruptions of civil or judicial officers, or justice to the injured be refused by the Courts, it will then be impossible to prevent the injured and oppressed from taking their remedies into their own hands.

When the Federal soldiers who arrive after an absence of three years hard fighting return to their homes from which they were driven, and find their homes desolated, find that their wives and children have sunk into poverty and starvation, or find them in rags and sickness, crying for bread—when these wan and weary men, many of them themselves crippled for life or reduced in health, with their constitutions broken and their prospects in life blasted, I am not among those who would restrain their [illegible] against their oppressors, so long as their vengeance is kept within reasonable bounds and sought through legitimate channels. But fewer [illegible] in the bloody drama, who were themselves unwilling agents, should be treated with charitable consideration, and as to them we should drown the recollections of the past in the dark water of oblivion; while those leaders who notified Union men at the beginning of the rebellion that but one party could hereafter live in Eastern Tennessee, and drove them from their homes, would act wisely to quietly and forever withdraw from the country.

Intelligent influential men of wealth, who instigated this rebellion—who seized and imprisoned Union men, and sent them by hundreds and thousands to the grave; and then, to crown their work of infamy, [illegible] their [illegible] and helpless families of all they had, have forfeited all right to protection and life, and merit the vigorous and undying opposition of loyal men. Still they must be punished in a legitimate way. And in the judgment of the Executive of this State, the disposition manifested by many of our loyal citizens to hinder from justice the chief actors in those revolting scenes is a course of action at least [illegible] without a distinction between loyalty and treason, is more certain to subvert the Government than is rebellion itself. Otherwise, at the sacrifice of justice, in the abandonment of government and the overthrow of law and [illegible]. The treason of the rebellion is a crime against law, liberty and humanity. They who are guilty of it have forfeited all rights to [illegible] and to life itself. Every field of [illegible], every rebel [illegible] every Union man's grave, unite with an [illegible] law and [illegible] the [illegible], and if the Courts do not administer it an [illegible] people will.

I call upon all rebel [illegible] and guerrillas to [illegible] wicked ways and [illegible] themselves to honest pursuits.

I call upon all such who have stolen horses, mules, cattle and other property, and who have committed other outrages upon Union men or Union families, forthwith to restore the stolen property to its true owners, and make reparation to all loyal men for the wrongs they have done them and their oppressed [illegible].

I call upon those who have [illegible] of the archives and property of the State, and the property of the railroad companies, to forthwith return all they took away, or there shall have no rest while I am in office. And I [illegible] all who refuse to return this property or make a just reparation, to leave the State or [illegible] out of her borders.

I call upon all returning [illegible] soldiers to [illegible] their threats of violence, such as that they are not whipped and are only resting with a purpose to fight again. Such threats can only bring on trouble and result in the shedding of blood.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed, at the Department in Nashville, on this, the 30th day of May, Anno Domini, 1865.

WILLIAM G. BROWNLOW.

A. J. FLETCHER, Secretary of State.

A SOUTH CAROLINA HERO.—There was a man in Charleston, Nelson Mitchell by name, who died about eight months ago, leaving, I [illegible] a wife and two children, poor and uncared for. From the beginning he has reasoned with the people, and that openly, about the rebellion. Twice he was sentenced to be hung by a rebel military commission, but the authorities never could find a man to do the work. A lawyer by profession and an anti-slavery man by education, he undertook a task which ought ever to make his name [illegible] honorable by the [illegible] in their condition.

After the [illegible] attack upon Wagner, in July, 1863, a military court was convened to try the black prisoners captured from the Fifty fourth Massachusetts Regiment. It was decided, after some delay, that military courts had no jurisdiction in the case, and that the matter should be handed over to the State. Mitchell volunteered as counsel for the men, and, after a five months' trial, he gained his point, convincing a South Carolina jury that these men were free. To do this you can imagine how fearlessly this brave soul must have worked.

An intelligent quadroon told me that he was present during the last ten or twelve sessions, and that Mitchell's eloquence was perfectly startling; at any rate it had the effect of awakening the jury to the importance of the decision, that I suppose they were really frightened into a favorable verdict. He has never been publicly mentioned in Charleston since then, except in very doubtful terms. They did not dare touch him, because he seemed to be so thoroughly in earnest, and he died from the effect of poverty and want.

Every night before going to bed Nelson Mitchell took his wife and children to his room, and, after having locked the door and closed the blinds, hung an American flag over his mantle, and sat by it in conversation with his family. The evening that he died his house was struck by one of our shells from Cumming's Point, and his family thus left more destitute than ever. They are being well looked after now, and I don't think will be allowed to suffer much hereafter.

For all this service he had the displeasure of the authorities and the coldness of the people, but the way in which the negroes talk of him is very tender. Nothing can be added to this narrative. Among all South Carolinians we have ever heard of, Nelson Mitchell alone seems truly chivalric. Through all the intolerable gasconade and inhuman sophistry of the State, his plea for the black prisoners is the sole ennobling sound.

DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT OF LEGAL TENDERS.—A carefully executed counterfeit of the United States legal tender $100 greenback note has made its appearance, and is likely to disturb the circulation of the whole of that denomination of legal tenders on account of the perfection of its workmanship. It is hardly recognized except by an expert, or on the closest examination. One of these counterfeits was paid out to one of our county officials, a few days ago, by the Bank of the Metropolis which had received it from some unknown source and had not recognized it as a counterfeit. He also received it as genuine, and paid it over to a well known lawyer, by whom it was also taken without suspicion. This latter gentleman deposited it on his account at the Mount Vernon Bank. It underwent the scrutiny of the receiving teller, who did not recognize it as counterfeit, but credited it to the depositor. On a second glance, however, he detected its character, and threw it out. It was then returned to the Bank of the Metropolis, where, upon careful and critical examination, it was pronounced to be good. But being taken from there to the office of the United States Sub Treasurer it was there pronounced to be counterfeit.—Boston Traveller.

The Daily Oregonian.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

FRIDAY MORNING JULY 14, 1865

Reverence for Law

That homage which monarchists render to the majesty of a king a free people, governed by decrees of their own making, ought to render to the majesty of the law. In a republic the same reverence should preserve the law from infraction that in absolute governments shields the person of royalty from insult, violence and harm. That august personage who in confident security in his royal position, exclaimed "I am the State," was no more to be revered in that high station than is the invisible majesty of the laws which a people have enacted for their own protection and government. In venerating the honor and dignity of a government whose unseen head is the laws made alike impartially for a whole people, and as obligatory upon those of high as upon those of low estate, we escape from the duty of speaking adulatory words to please the ear of royalty and while we feel that there is a power over us to which our allegiance is due, we are rid of the necessity of wounding our self respect by being compelled to adore the person of a mere human being in whose hands are lodged the insignia of power.

It is when men deem lightly of the majesty of the law that is above them, and bring themselves to think carelessly of the obligations it imposes that their departure from their duties as citizens begins. The law is not to be looked upon merely as an avenging monster fit to inspire dread and terror, but as a beneficent and controlling power whose mandate cannot be rightly disobeyed. It ought to restrain as much by its moral influence as by the fear of the penalties it prescribes. Laws ought first to be just and reasonable, and in accordance with moral truth, and then the person who is subject to them should educate his conscience to the extent of scrupulously revering all their requirements.

We read of individual instances where during our late war, and in the midst of the faithless defection that everywhere abounded throughout the revolted States, men who had a proper appreciation of their duty to their Government, preserved the flag, which is the symbol of its power, and with a holy reverence remembered that mysterious divinity which belongs to the laws of the country from which their allegiance could not be severed. Such examples are sublime. They evince a faith and loyalty which should be entertained and cherished by every citizen who feels that his country is a part of himself. To such men as these, the laws have a warning. Such can never be turned aside from the obligations which bind them to their country.

The motives which actuated these patriotic men, were not felt by their neighbors who plunged into the chaos which immediately succeeded their open disregard of lawful authority. Had these misdoers taught themselves to revere the laws instead of thinking it an act of heroic virtue to defy them, we should have been spared from witnessing the scenes that have transpired. It is no slavish service to perform the part of good citizens, and stand in awe of legally constituted authority. When a disposition not to do so is shared by a great community, as was lately the case in a portion of our country, evil consequences are sure to follow.

THE MIDDLE FORK ROAD.—The road now making from the head of this valley direct to Canyon City and Owyhee, will, when completed, be of [illegible] use to the people of the counties which lie in the Willamette above us. It will also be no less advantageous to Portland than to those who will make immediate use of the road. Whatever stimulates production in, and increases the wealth of this valley, will aid Portland. If the road proves to be a success, the staple articles of consumption for the mines will be carried direct from the upper portion of this large and fertile valley to a most profitable market. Population will rapidly flock in wherever there is work to be done at remunerative rates. If the great valley which lies above us can find a suitable market it will produce tenfold or a hundred fold more than it has [illegible] done. As the people then grow more numerous and more wealthy, we shall find that the business of this place will improve correspondingly. This valley greatly needs a larger population, particularly in the farming districts and when produce from remote parts of it can reach a good market there will be an inducement for people to come into it from elsewhere.

The pass through which the road we have mentioned is being constructed, is known to be the lowest that exists between the California line and the Columbia river. There is no doubt but that an excellent road can be made through it. The upper portion of this valley will then be in direct communication with our richest mines. Fort Boise is almost due east of Eugene City. Owyhee is a little south of east of the same place. We do not know the exact distance from Eugene City to Owyhee, but suppose it to be about three hundred and fifty miles. Those who are acquainted with the topography of the country say that it will be easier to build a railroad from the further end of this valley over the mountains by the pass just indicated, so as to intersect the great Pacific Railroad in the direction of Salt Lake, than to construct a [illegible] over the high mountains between here and California.

THE FOURTH OF JULY AT VICTORIA.—The Victoria papers give a glowing account of the manner in which our national anniversary was celebrated at that place. The repeated evidences of sympathy and good will which we observe in our excellent neighbors, are very flattering to our national pride and extremely grateful to the feelings of all our countrymen. The English are our brethren; between them and us there should never be any acerbity of feeling growing out of a remembrance of past differences, or springing from a narrow prejudice which would cause the citizens of each country to look with distrust or animosity upon everything that pertains to the other. To English liberty we are indebted for our own and for every valuable privilege we possess; we, and all mankind, owe a debt of gratitude to Britain which we cannot forget so long as the history of the past is read and remembered. England has not always treated us justly, and some of her people are our implacable foes, but the great mass are friendly to us and during our late struggle, some of her most eminent men rendered us services which can never be forgotten. The true Democracy of England are in the closest sympathy with us, realizing that our victory is a triumph for freedom, not contracted in its extent and in influence nor limited within our own boundaries, but far reaching in its work of reform and large as the horizon of man.

Our neighbors of British Columbia have treated us considerately during our trying struggle, their conduct in this regard being in marked contrast to that of the people of some of the other provinces. It is greatly to be hoped that mutual forbearance between the English Government and our own, will forever prevent us and our friends beyond the border from becoming violent and vindictive enemies.

The total number of troops under Gen. Connor's command for operations against the Indians is estimated at 3,800. They are widely scattered and some of them can hardly be made available for a general campaign.

Why is it that the persons who a few years ago were so clamorous for the hanging of old John Brown now beg for the life of Jefferson Davis and his confreres? Is it hard to answer?

HOW GRANT TALKED TO SHERMAN.—The New York [illegible] tells the following story:

[illegible] Grant [illegible] campaign against Vicksburg, in the spring of 1863, and after all the preparations had been made for swinging his army from the base [illegible] on the Mississippi river to make the circuitous inland march via Jackson (Miss.) to the rear of Vicksburg, he was called upon by General Sherman, and spoken to as follows: "General Grant, I feel it my duty to say that as a subordinate officer I am [illegible] to give you my hearty cooperation in the movement, but [illegible] my military reputation to protest against [illegible] and hope that my protest will [illegible] Washington." "Very well, Sherman, [illegible] General [illegible] protest. I'll take care of it."

The next day General Grant received General Sherman's paper and the movement was then initiated which culminated in less than three months in the surrender of Vicksburg and its immense garrison. Prior however, to Pemberton's capitulation, but after it was morally certain that the rebel stronghold must fall, General Sherman rode up to General Grant's headquarters one day, and he and his chief sat [illegible] on the ground [illegible] endeavoring to keep cool as possible in the sultry midsummer weather. They were chatting pleasantly on the prospects of the [illegible] approaching success when General Grant's Assistant Adjutant General came up and asked for some paper of official importance.

It is well known that General Grant entered upon the campaign without more personal baggage than a tooth brush and this accounts for the fact that his official records were carried in the breast pocket of his military blouse. Taking a handful of documents from this receptacle, he selected the one that had been asked for, and [illegible] the rest away drew forth a second paper from the pile. Then turning to Sherman with a merry twinkle in his eye he said, "By the by, General, here is something that will interest you." Sherman took it and saw the protest which a little more than two months before he had handed to his chief to be forwarded to Washington through the proper channel. An expression of half astonishment and half gratification diffused itself over Sherman's war worn features which quickly exchanged to one of supreme satisfaction when General Grant took the paper from his hand, and tearing it into small fragments, scattered them to the winds. No further allusion to the matter was made on either side.

THE SALVADOR PIRATES.—The charge against the persons lately on trial at San Francisco for having attempted to seize the steamer Salvador, specified that the parties accused came on board the vessel at Panama, secretly armed for the purpose of wresting the steamer out of the hands of the officers and crew, and converting her into a cruiser to prey on the commerce of the citizens of the United States.

After a long and searching trial the prisoners were found guilty and sentenced to be punished with death, but the sentence was commuted by General McDowell for these reasons:

In view of the fact that both by statute and common law, punishment is measured, to a great extent, by the consequences that have flown, rather by those which might have flown, from the crime committed—that a man who maliciously shoots another, is punished more or less, as his victim dies or recovers; that an attempt to commit a crime, accompanied by failure is not punished with the same severity as an attempt that succeeds and that the prisoners utterly failed, and in view, further that punishment for violation of the laws of war has especial reference to the future conduct of the belligerent party to which the violators belong, and, as under present circumstances, such party is unable to do further harm, the sentence of death, awarded by the Commission, is mitigated to imprisonment.

T. E. Hogg, the leader, is sentenced to imprisonment for the term of his natural life. His six confederates are to be confined in prison, each for the term of ten years.

A TRAITOR CONDEMNS HIMSELF TO DEATH.—The New York Times, September 20th, 1855, contained the following communication from George N. Sanders:

NEW YORK, Sept. 2[illegible], 1855.

To the Editor of the New York Times: Your correspondent Golovin, a Russian scholar of distinction, seems to be horrified at my opinion in favor of the political guillotine in Europe. The following extract from a letter of mine, which appeared in the Richmond Examiner, 15th inst., and for which I ask the favor of insertion, conveys more fully my sense of its necessity:

"The fault of our noble co-workers in Europe, in '48 was, as I have intimated in my communication to the Herald, their too generous credulity. It is sincerely to be hoped that at the next opportunity no delicacy shall interfere with the punishment due to the traitors and perjurers who have shown that with them generosity is only a stimulus to murder, and trust a means to betray. We want to see at the renewal of the suspended revolution, the firmness of Washington, and Pitham and Jackson when they without one moment of indecision, wisely hung up even less dangerous, because less important, men. In this limited and righteous cruelty, there will be large benevolence and in it only safety. We must regret that Santa Anna has again made his escape from judgment. There would have been salutary admonition to his knavish fraternity on the other side in his execution. GEO. N. SANDERS."

AN EXTRAORDINARY DOCUMENT.—A dispatch dated Washington, June 1st has the following which throws much light on the assassination trials. The [illegible] says it was found floating on the docks at Morehead City, North Carolina, on the 1st of May. It was written in cipher, and has been literally rendered as follows:

WASHINGTON, April 15th.

Dear [illegible]: I am happy to inform you that Pet has done his work well. He is safe and old Abe is in hell. Now sir all eyes are on you. You must bring Sherman. Grant is in the hands of Old Gray ere this. Red Shoes showed a lack of nerve in Seward's case, but fell back in good order. Johnson must come. Old Crook has him in charge. Mind well that Brother's oath and you will have no difficulty. All well. Be safe and enjoy the fruits of our labors. O. B. NO. FIVE.

The Louisville Journal, in an elaborate editorial entitled "An Open Letter to the People of Kentucky," closed as follows:

"The time has come for at once cutting up by the roots the Upas tree which for more than half a century has poisoned our prosperity and retarded the growth of that public spirit which our full development requires. Let the people, therefore, cast aside the fossiled politicians who would impede their progress in the broad path of destiny which opens before them, and to this end let them in August next elect no man to the General Assembly of the State who will not pledge himself to the immediate and unconditional ratification of the constitutional amendment."

Milligan, Bowles and Horsey, the alleged Indiana conspirators whose death sentences have been commuted to imprisonment for life, have arrived at the Columbus Penitentiary, where they are to be confined. It is stated that the order from Washington was not to let them know of their reprieve until they were on the gallows, but the news got out beforehand and spoiled a sensation.

SECRETARY SEWARD'S CONDITION.—A Washington dispatch of date 7th of June says that Secretary Seward still experiences great difficulty in speaking and eating, his lower jaw being fastened so as to be immovable. The lower part of his face is completely enveloped in a mechanical contrivance, for keeping his jaw in place, so that it may heal.

VICKSBURG.—The Vicksburg Herald says that the flag pole in that city from which the rebel ensign swung so long, was graced with the stars and stripes on the Fourth of July. A happy substitution of the flag of freedom for that of piracy and slavery.

Bishop Alonzo Potter, one of the most eminent clergymen of the Episcopal Church, died on board the steamer Colorado in San Francisco harbor on the 4th of July.

The huge Russian [illegible] kept by the rebels to prevent the escape of [illegible] from the Richmond prisons, is in New York in charge of his keeper. The dog is over three feet high and can get along with eight pounds of meat at a meal if his meals come often.

On the Fourth day of July following the admission of a State into the Union the star representing it is for the first time placed in the field of blue in the national flag. The State of Nevada has now a representative star.

BUTLER'S CANAL.—The canal at Dutch Gap, cut by order of General Butler, allows passage for vessels drawing seven feet of water, and is now regularly used by such steamboats and other craft as do not draw over that depth.

The case of Gen. Williams and others, connected with the [illegible] affair will come up Saturday next.

Sam Brannan was dangerously injured by a fall from a buggy at Sacramento yesterday.

Dr. [illegible] Coggeshall was [illegible] for violating the fire ordinance by repairing a building that had been partially destroyed by fire.

Hongkong dates to the [illegible] of May were received yesterday. Rice was very scarce; [illegible] at $6 00, a decided advance in prices. The heavy fall in teas and cotton in England had led to several failures of English houses in Hongkong, Shanghae and [illegible]. No material change in the produce market. Sales of 300 mats No. 2 China at 9½c; sugar refined 100 half barrels [illegible] and crushed Pacific Refinery 15½c. Coffee sales 100 [illegible] Java [illegible].

Legal Tenders closed 73¾.

SALT LAKE, June 12.—The Eastern line is down beyond Three Crossings, station 20 miles beyond here. It was cut by Indians, whom large numbers are reported to be in that vicinity. Efforts are being made to repair it but as it is not known how much damage is done east of there, it is impossible to say when it will be in working order.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—Sailed—bark D. M. Hall, for Victoria; bark Almatia for Portland; ship [illegible], for Buzzard Inlet.

BOISE CITY.—We cull the subjoined paragraphs from the Idaho Statesman of July 8th:

Capt. John Mullan left Boise City yesterday for Owyhee where he will join the escort furnished him by Col. Drake commanding the sub District of Oregon, and with this escort will proceed to view out and locate a stage route from Ruby City to Surprise Valley. At Surprise Valley the Oregon escort will return to Owyhee, and from Surprise Valley to Susanville, California he will receive an escort of California cavalry to complete his survey. Just before leaving here Capt. Mullan received very important letters from Major [illegible] of Chico and Major Robert Williamson U. S. Engineers, who has been ordered by Gen. McDowell to establish a military post in Surprise Valley—both referring to the eminent practicability of the enterprise and urging him not to abandon the project of opening it up for a direct stage service from Idaho to California. The project is one in which the people of Idaho and North California feel an especial interest and we can but wish that it may be crowned with that success which we believe its merits so fully entitle it.

If anything were needed to convince one of the fact that the merchants of Boise city are doing a good business it may be found in looking around at the substantial improvements that are going on in different parts of the city. At the present rate of building it will be but a few months till every important business house will have a thoroughly fire proof warehouse that has not a fire proof building in which to do business. Mr. Baer and Messrs. Crawford, Slocum & Co. have just completed buildings of this kind and Messrs. Hassberg & Co. have in course of erection another. It is worth while to state that these as well as others that have been built are no shabby affairs but are thoroughly fire proof, and though we can not yet boast of buildings as pretentious as some we still can be as safe from fire as any.

A most painful affair happened last Saturday near Idaho City, in which a man whose name we did not learn came to his death. It appears that some men were hauling logs in what is called Bear Run, when one of them discovered some distance from the road what he supposed to be a panther or some wild animal, lying upon the ground. At this he got his companions to stand guard with their side arms, while he procured his rifle, and taking deliberate aim fired, killing a man, who it appears was lying on the ground asleep. The wounded man leaped into the air, and fell dead on the spot, the ball passing upward through the body from one hip to the opposite shoulder. Our informant did not learn the names of any of the parties. It is said the unfortunate man was horrified at the fatal mistake he had made. He was put under arrest and his examination was still progressing on Sunday morning.

AGAINST THE INDIANS.—A correspondent of the Sacramento Union writing from Julesburg June 15th, says:

The field campaign will commence in a few days. General Connor moves his headquarters to Laramie, and will direct movements in the field in person. The column moving from Laramie towards Powder river will number about two thousand cavalry and one artillery company. Another cavalry column starts from the Missouri river for the base of the Black Hills. Each column will probably march in three divisions, from twenty to forty miles apart, and make a thorough drive of the country. Advance guards will afford information in time to close up. The campaign will be a vigorous one and the murdering savages will discover, before the leaves begin to fall, that they have found their master.

The following impressive thought is taken from one of the recent utterances of Rev. Dr. Bushnell of Hartford Connecticut. He is speaking of the majesty and strength of our Government:

"We did not know how strong it was before. Nobody had any conception of the immense strain it could bear. How bright is the future now of such a Government and nation! Hallowed by so many battle fields, and there by the tribute of so many histories and sung by so many songs of the great poets of the future, how dear and sacred and glorious it will be! And God be thanked it was our privilege to live in this great day. Futures, thus always to be called heroic age of the republic."

FROM AUBURN.—A [illegible] correspondent writing Auburn under the date of July 5th gives many additional particulars of the Indian troubles in that quarter. From his letter we take the following:

This morning the Mormon Basin and Clark's Creek delegation to the Fourth started home, but returned about 10 A. M., in company with two men F. L. Smith and Cannot who had been chased by Indians, Smith being covered with blood from a wound in the side and right arm. The Indians twelve in number attacked them at Alkali Flat on Burnt river, on the road from Mormon Basin to this place. Some of the Indians were mounted, others not. Smith's wound was dressed by Dr. Grant; not dangerous. Cannot killed one of the Indians.

[illegible] Route.—Not many months since a [illegible] that every summer in San Francisco had [illegible] as a runner for Portland and the Columbia route to Idaho. By passengers from New York [illegible] and that no person is met, upon the arrival [illegible] at San Francisco, to advance the interests [illegible] and the natural route to Idaho by way of this city but that they were beset [illegible] a mass of runners all advertising [illegible] and [illegible]. The new route which it has been attempted by such enterprise as Californians are known to [illegible]. We have good authority for saying that when [illegible] and Francis the founders of the Red Bluff route to Idaho, arrived in San Francisco they had not enough [illegible] to pay for a week's board. They were [illegible] by the famous Comstock of Washoe notoriety, on [illegible] from this city to San Francisco and during the [illegible] the matter of this Chico or Red Bluff route was [illegible] about. It was proposed that they start a saddle [illegible] way to Owyhee and Comstock agreed to furnish the money if Pierce and Francis would put [illegible] through. Here, on board the steamer [illegible] the [illegible] was concocted. Upon arriving at San Francisco, [illegible], Comstock found out that he had no money [illegible] had none, as his autograph scattered in this city [illegible] days previous shows, so what was to be done? The [illegible], Pierce and Francis concluded to [illegible] a one, and accordingly set out for the vicinity they were about [illegible] in, for the consummation of their important [illegible]. It was "make or break," and it seems they had but very little to lose, which gave them the more [illegible]. On arriving at the place selected as the starting [illegible], their purpose was made known to the inhabitants [illegible] met with the most enthusiastic reception. The men were soon made acquainted with others who had money. Horses were furnished by hundreds from the [illegible] of wealthy ranchmen. Builders were given their [illegible] of hay for the animals were donated, men to [illegible] out to protect the stations and [illegible] the "route, and the most exciting times [illegible] there apparent. Every one realized the [illegible] these parties, because they had come there to [illegible] communication with Idaho. The advantages of the [illegible] route were made to appear to great [illegible] over [illegible] of the ordinary and most natural route via this city [illegible] the Columbia river, and after offering, [illegible] and others, considerable freight was [illegible] from its usual course and went overland to Idaho by the new route. Nevertheless there has been almost [illegible] of the matter. We now find freight [illegible] to our wharves which has been a part of the [illegible] to Idaho by the new route, unable to get through [illegible] us to profit by the experience of the past [illegible] made on this route—through the efforts of the [illegible] Steam Navigation Company—greater, more perfect [illegible] and lasting improvements and have [illegible] most money to spend it for comfort, dispatch and safety [illegible] any similar work through any similar corporation [illegible] can be shown us in the State of California [illegible] other point west of the Rocky Mountains. The [illegible] have been made, the money expended [illegible] by benefitted by the persons engaged in it, [illegible] who are part and parcel of the community [illegible] are identical with our interests, because [illegible] their home. We have a most magnificent [illegible] of agriculture, our manufacturing advantages [illegible], our mineral resources are unequaled, [illegible] drifting along on the tide of progression at a [illegible] rate, and it only behooves us to attend to our individual [illegible], appreciate what we have, [illegible] a degree [illegible] in the encouragement of all [illegible] enterprise [illegible] we shall all be wealthy before [illegible].

[illegible]—By a private letter from Mr. Foley who [illegible] now engaged with a party of men in the Cascade [illegible], [illegible] a new mining camp and develop [illegible] found there, we learn that he experienced [illegible] greatest difficulty in reaching his destination [illegible] City, for want of assistance. His outfit was [illegible] a point on Rock creek in a wagon. From thence [illegible] to proceed with pack animals, and eight [illegible] required. These, after some difficulty, were [illegible] of two different men, as one man could not be [illegible] the number of horses required, [illegible] the party into the mountains. Finally they [illegible] not until the prices per day for men and [illegible] which may be considered moderately [illegible] were paid by Mr. Foley. When the train was [illegible] miles of their destination the owners of the [illegible] to go any farther because there was no trail [illegible] there with all their tools and [illegible]. Foley was then obliged to go to work and clear [illegible] his steps and [illegible] other animals, before [illegible]. We question the policy pursued towards [illegible] on this occasion. They have taken the risks [illegible] the adventure, and should be encouraged [illegible] possible. The results of their explorations [illegible] not merely be of advantage to themselves but [illegible] to every individual in the country, [illegible] by bringing into demand all the [illegible] by the farmer, or dealt in by the merchant [illegible] to render [illegible] wildernesses [illegible] and populous and experience teaches us [illegible] no class of men more deserving of encouragement than the voluntary [illegible] after the mineral [illegible] of our mountains.

[illegible] Flour.—We were shown yesterday a sack [illegible] of a lot of flour which was sent up on the steamer [illegible] to this place on its way to Idaho. We do [illegible] know who the parties are who are engaged in shipping [illegible] to the mines to satisfy the wants of the hungry [illegible] know that we never saw such execrable stuff [illegible] California—California of nice discrimination and exquisite taste—epicurean California, whose [illegible] so sensitive as to loathe almost every [illegible] her, it [illegible] makes even so common [illegible] as flour, so wretchedly bad that it can be eaten [illegible]. The poorest brands in our market are [illegible] than this article that is going [illegible] way from the mills of our remarkably nice [illegible] down on the Bay. It will not sell when it [illegible] for it is positively unfit for human [illegible] California [illegible] have often sneered at us [illegible] of our [illegible], but we venture [illegible] such wretched stuff as this flour is, was [illegible] here to San Francisco.

[illegible] the old statutes of this State [illegible] of offer [illegible] and committed to jail in default of fine imposed, were required to stand [illegible] until the penalty was paid. Under the provision of the law many a vagrant had been furnished [illegible] quarters during an [illegible] at the expense of the county in which he was [illegible] to commit acts not felonious, demanding [illegible] of Courts. The C[illegible] of the County [illegible] have recently set at liberty three [illegible] and the Indian Jim [illegible] of the tax [illegible] Under the new law [illegible] of [illegible] of $2 on their fine for each day [illegible] then stand some chance of getting out of [illegible].

[illegible] Court.—In the case of the United [illegible] Mayer—indictment for perjury—the demurrer [illegible] was yesterday overruled, and the [illegible] not guilty. Cause continued until next [illegible] of defendant, and the bail increased to [illegible] on the demurrer the Court held [illegible] the A[illegible] That it was not [illegible] language of the statute in the indictment, but [illegible] that it was [illegible] if other [illegible] of the same [illegible] That the [illegible] was sufficient if made according to [illegible] procedure of the State.

[illegible] Rock.—The sixty-one pounds of rock [illegible] ledge of Santiam, the crushing of [illegible] described yesterday, produced gold to the [illegible] as shown by an assay made by Tracy [illegible]. The gold is [illegible] large per [illegible]. The result is certainly very [illegible] the [illegible] of a doubt that we have near [illegible] which outrival the most famous camps on the [illegible]. There is now nearly 1,000 tons of rock at the mill [illegible] for crushing, as soon as the machinery can be [illegible] the ledge, which will be in about three weeks. [illegible] of average rock has been sent for, and will be [illegible] when it arrives, by the same process through which [illegible] have been worked.

[illegible] Pavement.—We observed yesterday on the [illegible], the trucks bearing boilers, and other machinery to [illegible] to the work of laying down the Nicholson Pavement. The boilers used in the preparation of the asphaltum are conveyed to various parts of the street on four [illegible] wheels, and are provided with [illegible] all complete. From the appearance of [illegible] we are led to think the work will soon be commenced [illegible].

[illegible]—So far this year we have not heard any [illegible] Front Street improvements below Pine [illegible] is to be done with that part of the [illegible] this street [illegible] of the city and is [illegible] street in Portland.

[illegible] lying at Ankeny's [illegible] of timbers, carpenters, [illegible] of almost every description, on [illegible] are driving things with all the force [illegible] complete the boat in time for a trip [illegible].

[illegible] the Columbia.—We do not remember [illegible] time, seen such a rush of freight up [illegible] as has taken place for two days past. [illegible] mills, engines, saw-mill machinery, [illegible] whiskey and flour [illegible] up country, and the wharf is well [illegible].

[illegible]—Northrup & Co. advertise in another [illegible] that speaks for itself. We recommend [illegible] to the Washington Artillery Company. It [illegible] to them in firing salutes with that [illegible] from Salem.

[illegible] We this morning present to our readers [illegible] exhibit of financial matters for the county [illegible] for the fiscal year ending [illegible] in July. The statement shows a balance of $[illegible] in the Treasury, of which sum $[illegible] is in currency [illegible] of $[illegible] 30 in gold and silver [illegible].

[illegible]—Judge F. D. Sherlock [illegible] J. A. Chap[illegible] B. Panish, Esq., yesterday morning left for [illegible] mines.

[illegible] Meeting of Ellison Encampment, I. O. O. F., will be held Friday evening [illegible] for the purpose of installing Officers. A full [illegible] of members in good standing is requested. By order of the C. P.

The Last Great Victory

We have all witnessed the extraordinary history of America during the last four years. We have seen a war the most memorable in the chronicles of the world, whether we look at its causes, its magnitude, or its results. We have observed in the Northern States blustering and blundering at the commencement, then sadly perplexed and sorely diffident, and at last calm, powerful, confident and victorious. In each of these stages we have watched and the world has watched the difficult task of controlling authority in a government based exclusively on the popular will, but we have seen how one by one the civil rights were relinquished until at length a great military power had well nigh [illegible] the mind. Some man took the country into its safe keeping. That military power became satiated with victory, may led its legions wherever it willed, and subdued the internal foe. It had grown from an irregular cumbrous mass into disciplined and compact strength, compelling obedience within the State and enforcing respect without; but the traditional danger was at hand—a military despotism would never relinquish in peace the power it had acquired in war. History repeats itself, and we all know the fate of the military republics. Well it was hard no doubt very hard that history should be dispensed with; that its records should be ignored. The classic minds of European statesmen were shocked that a republic in the nineteenth century should not submit to the fate of Rome and Greece, or even of the Robespierrean France. There was something wrong evidently, and history had got out of its groove. The record of events was not the only thing despised; the science of [illegible] was utterly scouted and its disciples' prophecies impudently sneered at. The sequel however shows that science as well as history was at fault, and that none of the terrible calamities that were to have happened have come to pass.

The great war is over, and the military authority that rose up like the prophet's gourd, is dissolving almost as rapidly. The civil power is quickly assuming those functions which have been so long suspended. The Court martial and military tribunal have handed in their powers, and the civil law reigns again supreme. This is the greatest of all the victories. Before it pale the taking of Richmond and the surrender of Lee. Sherman's feats in Georgia or his subsequent advance are significant when compared with this great moral triumph. Never in the history of the world has the majesty of popular freedom so vindicated itself. Salus populi suprema est lex. Everything has been made subservient to the safety of the people. The most powerful monarchy, the most absolute dictatorship has never been more implicitly obeyed—never made its mandates felt throughout the length and breadth of the land more thoroughly than this American republic; and yet with all the power, with all the influence wielded by individuals, there was no more thought of any person retaining that power when he was called upon to relinquish it than there is for the land to retain its moisture when the sun calls upon it for its daily tribute. We record the fact with a gratification that is hemmed in by no confined prejudices of nationality; we rejoice that civilization has made such rapid strides that the intelligence of mankind has reached that point when the people collectively, not the sittings of classes, can be entrusted with the greatest privileges that man can exercise. To Englishmen everywhere, it is a source of no mean satisfaction to think that the great problem of self government has been so signally solved by a branch of the Anglo Saxon race and solved under ordeals the most terrible and the most trying. Not only however is it a satisfaction; there is a lesson to be learnt, instruction to be received. We want to know the talisman that has worked such wonderous changes in any portion of the human family as to induce a people in a great crisis to relinquish rights to the Government for the sake of the country, and then when the task is over, to induce the Government to return the privileges thus conferred. We know that in no country in Europe could such a tacit arrangement be carried out with integrity. We should have a reign of license or a coup d'etat. It is, therefore, as we have said, instructive to examine the causes of this remarkable trait in the character of our American neighbors—whether they are in the form of government, the habits of the people, or the education of the masses. That the form of government, which throws on every individual a certain responsibility, has a great deal to do with the matter is [illegible]. De Tocqueville as well as Mill—[illegible] English writers ascribe a [illegible] to this political education which is [illegible] every person who claims to be a citizen. But there is something more than the political instruction required; there is the education which is obtained at the school and at the college—a privilege so common that the poorest family may obtain it for their children. When we think how much ahead the United States is in this respect over the [illegible] of nations, we are not at all surprised that she should be patient in adversity, and collected in the hour of victory—that historical comparisons should be thrown away upon her and that she should show after her recent disasters, even a greater adoration for the cause of law and order.—British Colonist.

Manacling of Jeff Davis.—The Washington Republican says of the putting Jeff Davis in irons:

As a necessity, (and possibly as a punishment and warning,) orders were given to place manacles on his feet. The captain in charge, attended by a blacksmith and manacles, approached, saying: "Mr. Davis, I have a very unpleasant duty to perform." "My God!" exclaimed Jeff, "you don't intend to put them things on me." Such were the orders, the captain could only obey. Jeff remonstrated. The should never be put on. The captain must go to Gen. Halleck and have the order countermanded. The captain replied, "But, Mr. Davis, the order came from Gen. Halleck." Davis insisted that the order must be countermanded. The captain said: "You are a military man, Mr. Davis, and know that my only course is—to obey orders."

Jeff then went off in a more towering passion than before, and declared that he would never be ironed alive. After becoming a little cool, and mechanically placing one foot on a stool, the captain told the blacksmith to proceed. Leaning forward to take to his arms the heels of his rebel majesty, Jeff seized him, and with a vigorous push tumbled him back on the floor, while the blacksmith, justly indignant, hurled his hammer at "the President," but missed him. Davis then attempted to seize a gun, and asked to be bayoneted. The guards presented bayonets, and the captain feared he might rush upon them, and he ordered the guard to fall back. The captain then called in four stout men, and ordered them to lay Jeff on his bunk, which they did, the prisoner resisting with almost preternatural strength, and writhing in their grasp while the blacksmith hammered on the rivet with a will. When placed in the chair again, Jeff looked in utter despair upon his manacled limbs and burst into tears.

State Allegiance vs. National.—If principles are more important than men, President Johnson owes it to the country to see that Gen. Robert E. Lee is tried for treason for another reason, to-wit: that the rebel chieftain persists in denying that he is guilty of the crime. Certainly no man has more earnestly "levied war against the United States." But Gen. Lee persists that he drew his sword only to defend Virginia against an unconstitutional invasion, in obedience to a prime allegiance to his native State. Thus the issue is directly made between the priority and superiority of State and National allegiance. That issue ought to be brought before the highest tribunal in the land, and settled once and forever. Gen. Lee admits that the right of secession has been definitely settled in the negative by the sword; but the permanent unity of the States—under a power derived from a majority of the whole and which is superior to the authority of an individual member of the Union—is a fundamental principle of the American system of government which ought to be adjudicated in such manner that all the world will recognize and accept the decision as final. To that end Gen. Lee's trial and conviction of treason is eminently to be desired, even though the President should see fit to pardon him immediately afterwards. The paramount obligation of every American citizen to the Constitution of the United States and the laws made in pursuance thereof is the very basis of our strength and stability as a nation. Its vindication is worth more than the forfeited lives of a dozen Lees, if their sacrifice were necessary to that end.

W. G. Simms.—William Gilmore Simms, the South Carolina novelist, is the editor of the Columbia Phœnix, and abounds in suggestions about reconstruction. It is a little remarkable that the Southern rebels who have been fighting with the utmost desperation for four years to destroy the Union, seem to think that of all men they are most to be consulted in the work of reconstruction. A temporary retirement on their part—a brilliant flash of silence or so—would not be a disagreeable phenomenon.

All the World's a Stage, and all the people merely players, and we surmise that a large portion of the players thereon, must be using that justly popular preparation for the teeth, "Fragrant Sozodont," from the immense demand there is for that article. Well, it only proves that we are becoming wiser and wiser every day, for it truly merits all that is said in its favor, the most delightful, convenient and efficacious beautifier and preserver of the teeth the world ever produced.

Sold by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers everywhere, 75 cents per bottle.

Reconstruction Working its Own Plan.—The Richmond Times of May 21st, says:

Slowly but surely, the work of reconstruction is going on. Fighting is at an end, and people are turning their thoughts to peaceful pursuits, returning to their homes, cultivating their crops, rebuilding their houses, and setting about earning a subsistence for their families. The soldiers are fast finding their way back to homes long deserted. A correspondent of the [illegible] Tribune met a [illegible] a captain in Lee's army at his home plowing up a small garden lot with his war horse. He had lost all of his slaves and most of his personal property. But he had a wife and children whom he was bound to support and had gone to work like a man. There is no statesmanship like that shaped by [illegible] and common sense. [illegible] is the true way to restore the South. Every man of the Southern States should follow the example of this captain. Out of the soil, with industry applied to it, comes the wealth that is to restore the South to order and prosperity. It may go hard at first to those unused to labor to attempt to earn their own living, but so soon as they show the disposition to help themselves they will find others ready to assist them. Let the people assist themselves with an elasticity of spirit, recover from their depression of spirit and be hopeful of better times, which are sure to result from the restoration of peace, the reopening of trade, and the return of the people to the industrial and agricultural pursuits of life.

The New Atlantic Cable.—It is probable that the work of laying the telegraph across the Atlantic, is now in progress. At our last advices the vessels were about ready to start on this great enterprise. We clip the annexed account of the cable from the Scientific American, which in view of the fact that the work of uniting the two distant continents is now under way, will be of peculiar interest:

Every possible care and attention is bestowed upon the manufacture of the Atlantic cable, so as to render its success, if properly laid, a continued certainty. The core consists of a strand of seven copper wires, each covered with about half an inch of gutta percha composition as an insulating medium. The telegraphic core is then strengthened by wrapping around it ten solid wires formed of Messrs. Webster & Horsfall's homogeneous iron capable of bearing a strain of [illegible] miles of its length. The whole is afterwards surrounded with yarn saturated with a chemical compound which by its poisonous qualities will prevent its destruction by marine insects, shellfish, etc. The new cable is most perfect throughout, and double the strength of the former one. The superior quality of the conducting wires and the greater thickness will admit of an average of eight words per minute being transmitted, against a fourth of that number under the arrangement of the old cable.

The Lake Tahoe Scheme.—In regard to the projected enterprise by which San Francisco and other cities of California are to be supplied with water from Lake Tahoe, the S. F. Call says:

At first it was believed that this scheme was a "flyer," so to speak, but appears the parties are in earnest. A very large quantity of water—much larger than that in the Croton Water Works—runs out of the lake into the Truckee, on the other side of the Sierras. It is proposed to tunnel the mountain so as to turn the surplus water from the lake to this side of the mountains and convey it to Sacramento, Stockton, and this city. There will also be enough water for extensive irrigation of farm lands, as well as for mining purposes. Those engaged in the scheme, have faith that the enterprise will prove a financial success. They will proceed immediately to make the necessary surveys, estimates, etc. It is decidedly the most stupendous water works enterprise ever undertaken on the American continent.

One of Jeff Davis' Negroes.—The Port Royal New South says:

When Jeff Davis arrived here he had with him a bright, pretty little octoroon boy, about eight years of age, named James Henry Brooks—or as they had nick-named him on account of his agility, "Jim Limber." He was found in the streets of Richmond and taken to Mrs. Davis, who, learning that his mother was dead, adopted him, probably as a plaything for the children. On arriving in our harbor and finding a long voyage before her, with a dark, unwritten future ahead, she requested our kind Provost Marshal General, Major W. B. Thompson, to take the boy and to present him to Major General Rufus Saxon, with her compliments and she requested that he would take good care of him, and train him into a proper manhood.

We asked the little fellow who made him, and the reply was: "God made me, but Lincoln made me free."

Democratic Logic.—As John Phœnix paraphrased an old axiom, "when impudence is at a loss for wit, it is fully to reply." John's new proverb applies to the impudence, if not to the wit, of the following, which we find in the new San Francisco Copperhead paper, the Examiner:

Democracy is peace. Peace has dawned upon the country and Democracy is triumphant once more.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY [illegible]

HALF A CENTURY,

WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING [illegible]

Coughs, Colds, [illegible], Influenza, Whooping Cough, [illegible], Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, [illegible] and every [illegible] of the

THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST,

INCLUDING EVEN

CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms, a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled [illegible] of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to [illegible] it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have [illegible] the names of a few of these:—

S. H. Kinney, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.,
E. Boyden, M. D., Exeter, Me.,
Alexander Hatch, M. D., China, Me.,
R. Fitts, M. D., Hill, N. H.,
W. H. Webb, M. D., Cape Vincent, N. Y.,
W. B. Lynch, M. D., A[illegible], N. Y.,
Abraham Skillman, M. D., Bou[illegible], N. J.,
H. D. Martin, M. D., M[illegible], Pa.,

The proprietors have letters from all [illegible] low citizens, from the halls of Congress to the [illegible] cottage, [illegible] for the [illegible] virtue of Wistar's Balsam have extended to the utmost bounds of the earth, without any [illegible] part to introduce it [illegible] country.

TO CALIFORNIA AND PACIFIC [illegible]

After October 1, 1863, all [illegible] Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for the Pacific [illegible] enclosed in a new [illegible] which will bear the names of both Seth W. Fowle & Co., [illegible] and John D. Park, Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as the facsimile of the signatures of "I. Butts," "Sanford & Park," and "H. Wistar, M. D."

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION,

Recently held at London, over 250 kinds of Sewing Machines entered for competition from all parts of the world. This is the greatest triumph of the age, and all who have an opportunity to ascertain their merits are satisfied that they are the most perfect in Mechanism and simplest in construction of any Machine yet produced, being easily understood, not at all liable to get out of repair and are very durable. They are adapted to all grades of work, and make a perfect

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER SEWING MACHINES!

MANUFACTORY:
182, 184, 186, 188, 190 and 194 Mott street, New York.

MOTTO—"The Singer Sewing Machines are the only Machines that can Sew all kinds of Cloth, and with all kinds of Thread."

Singer's Letter A Family Machine is the best and cheapest Machine in the world for Family Sewing. There is no doubt as to the value of our Machines for manufacturing purposes, but it is only of late that the public began to learn that the essential elements of a Machine best adapted to the heaviest work, would also be the elements to be embodied in a Family Machine.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines the attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for Light Manufacturing Purposes. They embody the principles of the Manufacturing Machines, making, like them, the interlocked stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and Light Manufacturing purposes, as our Manufacturing Machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES are valuable in proportion to the number of things they can do well. See what ours can do before making a purchase.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities, and the best method of purchasing, can obtain it by sending for a copy of the SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S ILLUSTRATED PAMPHLET, which is entirely devoted to the subject. IT WILL BE SENT GRATIS.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged!

In the decline of life, the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females:

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS. Purchase only of reliable dealers. Sold everywhere.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once relieved, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility, becomes a new man, he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor,—The mainspring reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its natural condition.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips. CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or others; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED

In One Minute.

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

E. TILLMAN, Esq., 218 Battery street,
Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers respecting the "security" of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock, and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such representations. We have just sent for one of our men at the factory, and he, in our presence, opened one of Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned on,

By One Blow of the Hammer

Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron bolt inside.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.

318 Battery Street, San Francisco.

GLOUCESTER, March 26, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of Buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or a rong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in the fire, we noticed McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire [illegible], however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed:) GEO. L. CUPSBORO & CO.

Look at their pale, [illegible] and disfigured faces and their [illegible] them, disqualifying them for the [illegible] of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this [illegible] thousands suffer until death [illegible] parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are [illegible] with any of these [illegible] that they are cured for and cured [illegible] Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, who has made private [illegible] his [illegible] for years, and who is certain to cure the most [illegible] mercury or any injurious drugs. It is [illegible] to those who are afflicted, or to those who are [illegible] in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, [illegible] their skill in curing all [illegible] in a few days, [illegible] upon the public by using the names of [illegible] great physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the [illegible] of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal [illegible], the [illegible] of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an alarming extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, [illegible] by [illegible] medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, [illegible] vision, benumbed intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic [illegible] pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, [illegible], night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove entirely to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding him to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Disease and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 252.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in nine cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
